SOVIET PINNERS CLOSE ON MANCHURIA

RUSSIAN TROOPS HAVE LAUNCHED attacks against the Japanese from three sides in a multiple pincer designed to nip off the northern part of Manchuria, according to Soviet reports.

Red Forces, in Many-Pronged Smash, Surge into Manchuria

Russia Reports Invasion Columns Have Gained 14 Miles from East and Have Captured Town 33 Miles Inside Stolen Province from West

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Mighty Russian invasion columns knifed into Manchuria in a great pincer and surged as deep as fourteen miles into the stolen province from the east today, setting Japanese outposts ablaze and bursting through a concrete defense zone, the Soviets announced tonight.

The western prong, meeting little resistance, captured Jin-Jin Sume. Maps show this to be an airport town thirty-three miles inside Manchuria from the border of outer Mongolia.

A BBC broadcast monitored by NBC said the Soviet radio had announced the Japanese were counterattacking in Manchuria. The enemy statement did not say exactly where in Manchuria the reported counterattack was under way.

The crack Siberian army, given the battle cry to "settle an old score," smashed ahead on a wide front from the mainline provinces on the east to wild Outer Mongolia on the west. Moscow's first communique of this twenty-four-hour Far Eastern war declared.

The east-west prongs of the multiple pincers clamping upon Japan's Kwantung army were about 750 miles apart. The Russian assault had already been assisted by blows by United States planes and Chinese parachute troops aimed at choking off Japanese troop movements from China to the new battle area.

Red bomber fleets ranged ahead, pounding enemy rail centers. Tokyo asserted the Russians were attacking from the east at points along a 300-mile front.

Further north, the Soviets battled over the Amur and Ussuri rivers from the Khabarovsk area and captured the Japanese stronghold of Puyuan, in the northeastern tip of Manchuria, Moscow said.

The Soviets said they beat down "fierce enemy resistance" and captured the towns and railway stations of Lupin (Manchouli) and Chailino, fifteen miles farther south on the former Chinese eastern railway.

There were indications the Japanese would attempt to concentrate their forces north of the Yellow river, but they were stubbornly engaged by the Chinese in their attempt to pull out from the south toward Manchuria.

Winging ahead of the Russian ground forces, Russian bombers rained blows on the important rail junctions of Harbin, Hsinking, and Kirin, and on the harbor areas of the Korean ports of Shesien and Rashin, the Soviet communique said.

side prepared Japanese defenses. This front extended southward around 150 miles to the Buir lake region where the fierce fighting of 1939 around Nonomon took place.

Directly athwart this western drive lies the massive Hsungan mountain range, guarding Japan's main industrial development around Mukden, farther east.

35 Persons Are Reported Killed In Train Crash

Scores Injured in Great Northern Wreck in North Dakota

MICHIGAN, N. D., Aug. 9 (AP)—The Grand Forks Herald said that up to thirty-five persons were reported killed and between fifty and 100 injured tonight when the west bound Pullman section of the Great Northern Railway's coast train, the Empire Builder, crashed into the coach section here early tonight.

The Herald said the first section, developing a hot box, had made an unscheduled stop here, remaining on the main track. An effort to flag down the second section failed and the train plummeted into the first section.

The impact was terrific, shaking many houses in this small community, and at once the word spread that brought many local residents to the scene.

They immediately set about removing the victims and sent out a call for help.

Relief Trains Sent to Scene

The Great Northern dispatched relief trains from Grand Forks, fifty-four miles away, and from Devils Lake, fifty-four miles distant, while local doctors and volunteers gave first aid as they could.

Normally, the Pullman section of the train preceded the coach section, but today the order was reversed and the packed coach train had gone on ahead.

When it developed a hot box just before reaching this city, an unscheduled stop was made to correct the defect. A futile effort was made to flag down the second section, railroad officials said.

At St. Paul, Minn., headquarters of the road, officials said that two three-car first aid trains had been dispatched tonight to Michigan.

C. W. Moore, advertising manager for the road, said there was no definite estimate of casualties yet available.

11-Car Sections

The relief train, bearing doctors and nurses, was dispatched from Devils Lake, N. D., while a second was sent from Grand Forks.

Moore said the first section was made up of coaches. Of its eleven cars, eight were movable, Moore said. The second section, Pullmans, also consisted of eleven cars, of which ten could be moved.

Moore said the eighteen cars were to be consolidated into a single train which was to resume its trip west at 10:30 p. m. The two trains left Chicago at 11:15 p. m. CWT, Wednesday, and the twin cities today at 9 a. m. CWT.

The scene of the wreck is fifty-four miles west of Grand Forks and thirty-four miles east of Devils Lake. Moore said first information from the road's transportation department indicated the first section had been stopped for a block signal when the second struck it. Both trains were made up of all-tee equipment, he said, adding that the four cars not movable had probably been telescoped by the impact.

Purple Heart Citation Is Presented to Segal

CHICAGO, Aug. 9. (AP)—Andrew N. Segal, of Baltimore, former state commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart and now a national committeeman, has been awarded the organization's newly established citation certificate for meritorious service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—Secretary Stimson said today that the War department will check over the Pacific war situation to see if atomic bombing and Russia's entry will permit another cut in the size of the army.

But the possibilities of both those new elements "had been in our minds for many months," the secretary added. He said the test must be the number of men "which we believe may be needed for the complete defeat of Japan with the least possible loss of American lives."

Stimson expressed his views in a brief statement, supplemented by release of a letter which he sent to Sen. Johnson (R-Colo.). Johnson, demanding a further reduction in the size of the armed force, had called the organization's policy "blind and stupid and criminal" and asserted that no more than 3,000,000 men could be deployed to the Pacific within a reasonable time.

Atom-Bombed Seaport Covered By Smoke, Dust

GUAM, Friday, Aug. 10. (AP)—Smoke and dust completely covered Nagasaki and rose to 20,000 feet three and one-half hours after Thursday's atomic bombing of that Japanese seaport.

Gen. Spaatz, chief of the United States Strategic Air Force, made this brief announcement after viewing reconnaissance photographs from the second use of the fantastic atomic bomb against the enemy. He said scattered fires were visible outside the smoke-obscured area.

There was no further word on the undoubtedly awesome fate that struck the Western Kyushu city of 253,000 population.

The Japanese themselves were absolutely silent about results of the atomic bombing, in which it was possible that more than one of the lethal packages was dropped.

Earlier Gen. Spaatz's headquarters had announced that results were "good."

Tokyo radio, which admitted that the initial atomic bombing Monday of Hiroshima had destroyed "practically every living thing," let hour after hour pass without comment about Nagasaki.

The Japanese people were told, however, in millions of B-29 scattered pamphlets that "the awful fact of the atomic bomb is one for you to ponder and we solemnly assure you it is grimly accurate."

Spaatz awaited photographic evidence before making any further announcement on the Nagasaki attack. His communique said that it was "the second use of the atomic bomb," but did not make clear whether one, or more than one, of the lethal packages was dropped.

B-29s Attack Tokyo Arsenal And Amagasaki Oil Refinery; Warships Bombard Kamaishi

Nips Lose Four Planes in 2,000-Pound Demolition Bombs Are Dropped by Superforts

GUAM, Friday, Aug. 10. (AP)—Seventy Superfortresses smashed at the Tokyo arsenal area shortly before noon today with 2,000-pound demolition bombs.

Early reports said results were excellent. Gen. Spaatz announced that the Superfortresses, of the Three Hundred Fourteenth wing from the Marianas, were accompanied by more than sixty Mustangs and Thunderbolts from two.

The bombing was done visually and with precision instruments against targets that were hit two days ago by a smaller B-29 force. The Tokyo arsenal area embraces many vital military and industrial establishments regarded as the greatest concentration of war productive power in Japan.

Last April 14 more than 350 Superfortresses burned out eleven square miles of the area with incendiary bombs.

Spaatz also reported that ninety Superfortresses dropped heavy demolition bombs early this morning on the Nippon oil refinery plant at Amagasaki. They met slight enemy interception and meager to intense antiaircraft fire.

(It was not immediately clear whether the Amagasaki raid was a new blow or a further report on an earlier unofficial disclosure from Spaatz's strategic air force headquarters that ninety-two Superforts hit Amagasaki late in the night of Aug. 9.)

Spaatz's communique gave no results of the raids, but said that reconnaissance photographs showed that the Aug. 6 Superfortress raid on the Ube coal liquefaction plant on Honshu left that important source of enemy fuel completely inoperative.

All of the refinery units were destroyed or damaged and sea-ward protecting the plant was broken in several places, flooding the plant site," Spaatz said.

Arline Judge Says Her Divorce Is Legal

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9. (AP)—Film Actress Arline Judge said today she had established legal residence in Chicago for more than three years and that "there's nothing legally wrong" with the divorce decree she obtained there from Capt. John Addams last May 17.

"It's not true," said the actress of an assertion by Illinois State Attorney William J. Tuohy that she had evidence that she had not resided in Chicago the required time.

Tuohy said he would seek to have the divorce set aside.

"Naturally, I haven't lived all the time in Chicago," said the actress, currently honeymooning at her Bel-Air home with husband No. 4, Vincent Morgan Ryan. "I've divided my time between Chicago, Hollywood and New York."

Southeastern Coast of U. S. Was Mined by Germans

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 9. (AP)—Southeastern coastal residents learned today for the first time that German-laid mines were found at harbors in Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina back in 1942.

The disclosure came from Rear Adm. James H. Doolittle, sixth naval district commander, who stated that mines were found at Charleston, Jacksonville, Savannah and Wilmington between August and September of 1942.

United States minesweepers swept the channel approaches daily. Mines floated to the ocean's surface when their cables were severed by the minesweeper's cutters. Under usual procedure, crewmen exploded the mines with machine gun or cannon fire.

Japanese Radio Says Nippon Has Weapon "Similar to Atomic Bomb"

LONDON, Friday, Aug. 10. (AP)—The Japanese radio in Singapore, in a broadcast monitored by BBC, said today that Japan has a weapon "similar to the atomic bomb" and will use it "to the utmost against United States military personnel."

The broadcast was not clear as to the exact nature of the purported weapon but said "Japan is fully aware of the true aspects of atomic energy" and "the Anglo-American States nations x x x must have

WASHINGTON — The position of secretary to Representative C. W. Bishop (R.), of Illinois, carries with it an unusual prerequisite. The secretary willing, the congressman will design her dresses for her.

For Congressman Bishop, who prefers to be addressed by his friends as "Runt," is known to his colleagues as the best tailor in Congress, a man who is always willing to oblige by sewing on a loose button or designing a suit.

Tailoring is only one of the many hobbies practiced by members of the House of Representatives.

Should you visit Washington and notice a well-built, bald-pated man striding briskly around the capitol grounds—that is the speaker of the House, Sam Rayburn (D.), of Texas, having his daily constitutional.

Brisk Walk Every Day

With the early morning mail out of the way, the speaker prepares himself for the morning arduous duties that confront him later by taking a brisk walk outside his office.

When you visit the House of Representatives, you may notice a short, slightly-built man, addressing the chamber, Rep. Clare Hoffman (R.), of Michigan. Look closely and you will note that there are no pockets in his suit.

It seems that twenty years ago in his home town of Allegan, Mich., Representative Hoffman was arguing an important case before a jury when he reached the crucial moment when a paper he had prepared beforehand should be presented for the edification of his hearers. But search his pockets hard as he might, the paper was not to be found.

"I have never had a pocket in my clothes since then," says Hoffman.

There was a time not long ago when congressmen had a special cobbler in their midst who was willing to oblige by fashioning a pair of shoes for colleagues with bunions and other foot ailments. He was Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R.), of North Dakota, who was defeated for re-election.

POST-WAR FARMER, TOO, WILL FIND LIFE EASIER WITH NEW GADGETS TO HELP HIM

ROTOTILLER—Power-driven, this new farm mechanism prepares the ground for planting in single operation.

 By KEN WOODMAN
 Central Press Correspondent
 LUCAS, O.—Here, almost within sight of Novelist Louis Bromfield's famed Malabar farm, is a good place to speculate on the post-war future of farming.

Bromfield's efforts to make his neighbors — and the nation — soil conservation conscious are well known. Less familiar are some of the mechanical improvements expected on American farms.

For example, there is the rototiller. This is a Swiss invention now being manufactured in the United States. It prepares the ground for planting in a single operation, combining the work of disk, plow and harrow. Rotating steel tines crumble the soil and mix fertilizer and cover crops uniformly into the seed bed.

Power-driven, the implement is a cultivator, furrower, compactor and mower combined.

Still more spectacular is the "flame weeder." This modified flame-thrower is expected to substitute for the hoe in tending some crops, notably cotton, sugar cane and corn. Its backers claim it will burn away weeds and leave the crops unharmed. They anticipate that it will "chop" (thin) cotton plants at a cost of 47 cents per acre compared with $6.50 for manual chopping.

Of greater interest to Bromfield, however, are farming methods. He recalls that he helped popularize Edward Faulkner's provocative book, "Flow-man's Folly," which advocates shallow tillage. After the war, farmers hereabouts are expected to see a number of new implements on the market which carry out this principle.

From the south has come advocacy of almost the opposite theory — use of the so-called "builtongue scooter" which cuts a deep, narrow furrow barely disturbing fertilizing refuse left to cover the topsoil. There may well be "bull-tongued scooters" on the market soon too.

Planes are already being used, particularly in the west, for some farm transportation and mass spraying of crops. This can be expected to increase.

When it comes to new-fangled sprays developed during the war, farmers in this area are inclined to go slow. They are afraid the new "dope" may kill beneficial earthworms, for instance, or bees which help pollinate their crops. But the new sprays are going to be on the market just the same.

One which has had wide publicity, of course, is DDT. Claims are made for it that it will destroy potato beetles, Japanese beetles, cabbage worms, corn borers, apple codling moths and fruit worms. It will also kill mosquito larvae.

However, what interests local farmers most in DDT is that it is fatal to aphids. These little green "lice" have invaded not only the area but most of northern Ohio this year and are wreaking wide damage, particularly on cherry trees. They even line the undersides of shrubs and tiny daisies grow along the roadsides.

Only Surrender

"We have used it," he said, "in order to shorten the agony of war, in order to save the lives of thousands and thousands of young Americans."

"We shall continue to use it until we completely destroy Japanese power to make war. Only a Japanese surrender will stop us."

Britain and the United States he said, do not intend to release the secret of history's most terrible weapon until means have been found to control it so as "to protect ourselves and the rest of the world from the danger of total destruction."

"The atomic bomb," Mr. Truman declared, "is too dangerous to be loose in a lawless world."

Hiroshima, a military base, was picked as the target for the first atom bomb, the chief executive said, to avoid killing civilians so far as possible.

"But that attack is only a warning of things to come. If Japan does not surrender, bombs will have to be dropped on war industries, and unfortunately, thousands of civilian lives will be lost. I urge Japanese civilians to leave industrial cities immediately and save themselves from destruction."

The president, renouncing for the United States any territorial gains or profits or selfish advantage from this war, made it plain, nevertheless, that this country intends to have the military bases "experts deem to be essential for our protection."

Those not now in our possession, he said, we will acquire under arrangements consistent with the United Nations Charter.

Mr. Truman did not disclose what strategic areas he has in mind which this country does not already hold.

The United Nations, he asserted, are determined there shall be no next war because what is being done to Japan now "is only a small fraction of what would happen to the world in a third world war."

The desire for peace, the president said, was the guiding spirit at the Potsdam conference and at the San Francisco conference and "will be in the peace settlements to come."

"There were no secret agreements or commitments—apart from current military arrangements—the president said in his analysis of the Potsdam parley.

Whether some were suggested, Mr. Truman did not say, but he asserted it was made plain to his conference colleagues that, under the constitution, the American president has no power to make treaties without Senate ratification.

Welcomes Russia into War

He declared that Russia agreed to enter the Pacific war even before she was informed of the atomic bomb.

"We gladly welcome into the struggle against the last of the Axis aggressors," he added, "our gallant and victorious ally against the Nazis."

The president spent most of his time dwelling on Potsdam decisions already announced in a communique at the conclusion of the conference. These decisions dealt principally with arrangements for writing peace treaties and keeping Germany subdued.

He did disclose in addition, that the United States pressed for "free and unrestricted navigation" of Europe's inland waterways. But the question was referred to a council of foreign ministers which the Big Three set up.

The United States intends to press for adoption of its suggestion in this council, the president said.

He mentioned the Danube river, the Black sea straits, the Rhine river, the Kiel canal and "all of the inland waterways of Europe which border on two or more states."

(Turkey straddles the strategic Dardanelles, and Mr. Truman did not mention that passageway.)

Persistent Cause of War

Selfish control of waterways, the president said, has been one of the persistent causes of war in Europe.

Of Germany, Mr. Truman said:

"We are going to do what we can to make Germany over into a decent nation, so that it may eventually work its way from the economic chaos it has brought upon itself, back into a place in the civilized world."

The purpose of preparation is, first, to take out of Germany everything with which she can prepare for another war, Mr. Truman said. The second, he said, is to help devastated countries recover by using German equipment and material.

Conceding that Poland had offered a difficult problem, the president indicated that the decision for a temporary western frontier for that nation was reached by compromise.

While the final boundary is to be settled at the peace table, the chief executive said there was much to justify setting a provisional border. This was necessary, he said, to enable the new Poland to organize, and to permit speedier withdrawal of armed forces (Russian) which had liberated her from the Germans.

Poland will take over a portion of several German provinces, but in them, the president said, there are only about a million and a half Germans left.

Enemies Close to Bomb Secret

The boundary arrangement, he said, will provide "a short and more easily defensible frontier between Poland and Germany."

Turning to the destructive atomic bomb, Mr. Truman said our enemies were close to finding its secret and that it would have been disastrous to America, all peaceful nations, and to all civilization had they discovered it first.

"Having found the bomb, we have used it," he said. "We have used it against those who attacked us without warning at Pearl Harbor, against those who have starved and beaten and executed American prisoners of war, against those who have abandoned all pretense of obeying international laws of warfare."

He said he would ask Congress to co-operate in controlling the future of the bomb and in using its power as "an overwhelming influence toward world peace."

"We must constitute ourselves trustees of this new force to prevent its misuse," he said, "and to turn it into the channels of service to mankind. It is an awful responsibility which has come to us."

"We thank God that it has come to us, instead of to our enemies and we pray he may guide us to use it in his ways and for his purposes."

Council To Be Established

But the strongest and most creative force now present in the world, Mr. Truman said, is the realization that "the basic proposition of the worth and dignity of man is not a sentimental aspiration or a vain hope or a piece of rhetoric."

In the non-military field, Mr. Truman said, the first decision was on establishing in London a council of the foreign ministers of Big Three powers and those of France and China. This council has been given the job of preparing for the negotiation of European peace treaties—with Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

The council also will start preparatory work for a peace settlement with Germany when that whipped nation is ready for it.

The president sketched through the arrangements for keeping Germany under control.

In exacting reparations, he said, the mistake will not be made of requiring monetary payments and then lending Germany the cash with which to pay reparations this time, he said, will be paid in physical assets not required for Germany's peacetime subsistence.

For Europe as a whole, the president foresaw distress in the coming winter.

"We must help to the limits of our strength," he said.

PORPY SKUNK GOES LITERARY

By FRED TEW

AP Newsfeatures
BUFFALO—Porpy the Skunk, a sad sack of the animal world and the favorite bedtime story hero of Mrs. Betty Ryan's four daughters, soon will have a larger audience. He's going into print.

Mrs. Ryan, wife of a police inspector, said she used to read stories to the girls. "But they soon tired of the same old plots, so I decided to make up my own."

The children liked best to hear about Porpy. Word spread about the neighborhood and the kids next door came to hear tales of the fabulous skunk.

The pretty brunette author's inspirations are: Dorothy, 7; Grace, 6; Pamela, 4, and Karen, 3. The mother said Karen's frequent mishaps—embellished into fairyland situations—provide most of the background for Porpy's adventures.

Mrs. Ryan, a native of West Hartford, Conn., casually described her creation at a party one evening and a publisher's representative, who was present, asked her to submit a manuscript. The book will be distributed at the Christmas season.

Truman Outlines Five-Point Plan For Reconversion

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (AP)—President Truman today called for removal of wartime production controls as soon as possible to speed development of a healthy national peacetime economy.

He made it clear at the same time, however, that the time has not yet come when American business can be freed of all restrictions.

In a letter to Chairman J. A. Krug, of the War Production Board, Mr. Truman outlined a five-point program for orderly reconversion of industry from munitions to consumer goods manufacture. This was its theme:

"Every opportunity must be given to private business to exercise its ingenuity and forcefulness in speeding resumption of civilian production, subject to war needs."

Some Measures Must Remain
But he said that in order to achieve unprecedented civilian production it is necessary the WPB "continue for the present some of the effective measures it adopted to achieve unprecedented war production."

While the president said clearly that controls should be lifted "as soon as they are no longer needed," he added that there must be continued allocation of scarce materials when this is necessary to provide low-priced products "essential to the continued success of the stabilization program."

Krug and Price Administrator Bowles conferred together with Mr. Truman shortly before the president released his letter to the WPB chief.

The president, in his letter, told Krug that WPB should play an important role in reconversion. He urged that the WPB staff stay on the job.

In a statement later, Krug said WPB would "stay on the job as long as there is any need for its services."

Program Is Outlined
The president requested that WPB follow this program:

1. A vigorous drive to expand production of materials in short supply, to meet both military and civilian requirements.
2. Limitations of manufacture of products which would require supply materials which are in scarce supply.
3. Broad and effective control of materials stockpiles to prevent "speculative hoarding" that would "endanger our stabilization program."
4. Provision of priority assistance to break production bottlenecks that might impede reconversion.
5. Allocation of scarce materials for low-priced consumer goods essential "to the continued success of the stabilization program."

SCULPTOR WITH A PULL

AP Newsfeatures
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Wisdom teeth become elephants in the office of Dr. J. W. Matthews, a Nashville dentist whose hobby is to fashion small sculptures with his grinding tools, using any medium from soap to billiard balls.

"It comes in mighty handy after the day's grind," the bespectacled dentist says with no sign of a grimace for the pain. The miniatures of everything from elephants to pin-up girls are perfect in detail, although for the most part less than an inch in size.

Patients stop bemoaning the loss of a tooth when Dr. Matthews transforms the cause of the trouble into an elephant. "It takes about fifteen or twenty minutes," he says. "The roots suggest the trunk and the flat grinding part of the tooth becomes the legs and body."

Hundreds of the sculptures, fashioned during the 40 years he has followed the hobby, clutter Dr. Matthews' office, giving it the appearance of a curio shop. His work is known to hobbyists throughout the nation.

Juvenile patients, quickly interested in the tiny figures, soon forget their dentist's-office fright.

FOR THE GI, MEDIUM RARE

KING your heart with his fork is Sgt. Taylor, a character man in the accompanying prose. Go west, young Pte.

By LEE FERRERO H. Arnold and his air force staff were in Butte last year he remarked, "This fellow Traparish really takes care of soldiers," Taylor said.

here," but he wasn't referring to the scenery.

He was indoors at the time, seated at a table in Teddy Traparish's Rocky Mountain cafe. What drew his comment was the big, succulent steak on the table before him.

Generals down to privates have expressed enthusiasm for the cafe, for Teddy's business philosophy hits them right where they live.

"Men in the service always get first play here," Traparish says. "And why not?"

Step Right Up

The last time I was there I found Tech. Sgt. George F. Taylor of La Grande, Ore., a veteran of thirty missions over Europe, seated in a booth surrounded by elegant grocer-ies of which half a steer — well, almost half — was the centerpiece.

and a marine private in the next booth, chewing a mouthful of steak, backed Taylor up in a southern drawl. "A Montana buddy told me about this place," he said. "How I love that man."

Sgt. Taylor's steak measured eighteen and a half inches in length and was more than two inches thick. On his table and on the marine's were radishes, celery tips, anchovies, sweet pickles, crabmeat cocktail, red and black caviar, cheese, green onions, lettuce, and a Roquefort cheese dressing for the salad.

When Teddy's waiter informed him that a hungry Chicago couple outside were inquiring about steaks, Traparish counted the soldiers eating in the place and told the waiter, "Let 'em have steaks. I guess those servicemen who ever dined over one of Traparish's steaks will tell you that's attraction enough."

(of 7227 N. Damon street, Chicago) received practically the same meal the soldiers had. It cost two dollars each.

Civilians as a rule get prewar service in Teddy's, except that steak isn't so plentiful. "I know these people," Traparish says. "They don't mind not having steak all the time if they know the servicemen get it."

Traparish, a big, mild-mannered Yugoslav-born bachelor, has his beef supply allotted by the OPA the same as other restaurateurs. There isn't enough to go around, of course, but what there is goes to the servicemen first. Traparish observes meatless days to catch up.

His cafe is no glittering palace. Its attraction is food. But any serviceman who ever dined over one of Traparish's steaks will tell you that's attraction enough.

—The word indigo is derived from the Latin indicum which was originally applied to any import from India.

—More than 9,000,000 bags of coffee were roasted for civilian consumption between October, 1944, and March, 1945.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or easy passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Ready Legion Frostburg, Calls Officers

es Cole Becomes Commander: Com- mission of Dam Urged

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 9 — At a meeting of the Frostburg Post, No. 1, of the American Legion, held last evening, a large number of out-of-town officers were installed to the ensuing year: Charles E. Shuck, vice commander; Arthur G. Shuck, second vice commander; Benjamin E. Shuck, adjutant; Walter L. Shuck, sergeant-at-arms; William E. Shuck, quartermaster; and Earl R. Miller, executive committee member.

The installation ceremony was in the presence of William Rankin, local commander of the Mountain Post, who was assisted by John E. Shuck, local inspector for the Mountain district who presented the new officers for installation.

Retiring post commander, Arthur Walbert, was presented a gold post commander's pin by Commander Rankin on the post.

At the business meeting, the post approved the caucus for the Mountain district election naming Frank T. Powers, commander of the district for the ensuing year.

The post also passed a resolution for the early completion of the River dam. A copy of the resolution is to be sent to the United States Army Corps of Engineers, Beall and Gov. Herbert E. Brown.

Legionnaires attending the meeting included James Jenkinson, commander, and Lawrence Lawson, Crichton and Joe E. James, P. Love Post, Frostburg; Pat Obel and Roy E. Clark, W. Va.; Sam Johnson, commander, and Ray Paul, Weissenheimer, and L. Popp, of Port Cumberland.

Speakers commended the post for the success achieved in the Sixth Annual War Loan drives and substantial increase in membership during the past year.

Importance of securing new members from among the young men of World War 2 was discussed and a plan to recognize the war veterans in use in Ohio and adopted in West Virginia, was discussed.

According to this plan, the veterans of World War II included in membership of Legion posts to complete staff of officers of new choosing and hold separate meetings at stated intervals.

Conclusions they reach on relating to post activities presented at regular meetings of the membership. By the adoption of this plan, it was pointed out, younger members would gain experience and equip themselves to carry on the affairs of the post in a satisfactory manner when they may be elected to serve as officers.

Following the business meeting, the installation ceremony, refreshments were served.

Elsler Is Fined
Elsler, this city, arrested last evening shortly after a car was driving crashed against a parked car on Main street, given a hearing this morning before Magistrate Owen L. Porter fined $122.50 on three motor vehicle violations, reckless driving, driving a car while under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of the accident. He was sent to jail in default of the fines.

Carl Patterson, owner of the car which was driven by Elsler, was fined $1,000 bond for a hearing on the failure to notify the owner of the damaged car of the accident and permitting an uninsured person to operate his car.

The crash which occurred Tuesday about 7 p. m., on Main street, near Broadway resulted in serious damage to three cars, owned by Mrs. Edna E. Robinson, Albert Stoops and Raymond Stonebraker. Sgt. Harold Carl and Trooper A. M. Spioch made the arrests and precluded the charges.

Mrs. Emma Walters, 27 Water street, received a suspended fine of five dollars imposed by Trial Magistrate James P. Kenney Tuesday morning on a charge of assaulting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Milton Walters, 155 First street.

According to the testimony, William Walters, son of Mrs. Emma Walters, after an argument with his mother went to live at the home of his aunt and had been working for several weeks when his mother went to Mrs. Milton Walters' home and asked for some of his wages.

A fight ensued and Mrs. Milton Walters was struck in the face by her sister-in-law and her glasses broken, she testified. The defendant was ordered to pay the costs of the case and furnish Mrs. Milton Walters with new glasses.

At the third hearing in the local court Tuesday morning, Elmer Warnick was assessed five dollars by Magistrate Kenney for assaulting his wife, Mrs. Sarah Warnick. A discharged veteran, the husband quarreled with his wife over money he had sent home as an allotment for his wife and children. He struck her on the arm on Main street last night, officers said, and reported that the wife had filed a suit for divorce.

Eunice Cole Is Bride
Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Eunice Mae Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cole, 27 Charles street, and Pvt. James Baker, son of Mrs. Margaret E. Wolford, Center street, Saturday morning in the rectory of St. Michael's Catholic church, with the Rev. Regis P. Larkin, assistant pastor, performing the ceremony.

The attendants were Miss Beulah Wolford, as maid of honor and Edward Miller, Barton, best man.

Pvt. Baker completed his basic training at Camp Blanding, Fla., and will report to Camp Rucknagel, Ala., August 18 for advanced infantry training.

Mrs. Baker, a graduate of Beall high school, 1944, is employed at the Princess confectionery. She will reside with her parents for the duration.

Railway Promises To Investigate Civic Complaint

Civic Groups Ask Improve- ments at Freight Station

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, Aug. 9 — The Civic Improvement committee of Westernport and the Luke Lions Club yesterday received a reply from Charles W. Brown, president of the Western Maryland Railway Company, regarding what disposition is to be made of the present freight station at Westernport once the new passenger and freight station is completed.

In a letter to the railway president, the two organizations called attention to the fact that the present freight station is located in the residential section of the town and is in a dilapidated condition. The building was termed a detriment to the beauty of the location and the two groups also expressed the hope that the railway would consider the possibility of converting it into a feed and grain warehouse.

The two organizations also requested that the company remove the building and beautify the grounds by planting grass and shrubbery. If this was carried out, the company would earn the gratitude of the people of the community, it was declared.

In his answer, President Brown said that he would have the matter investigated and declared that the suggestions advanced by the two organizations would receive careful study.

The Western Maryland railway is now building a new passenger and freight station and will vacate the present building upon the completion of the new project.

Polomac School's Fall Term Opens On September 9

Freshman Week Program Will Continue Through September 12

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 9 — The fall semester of Potomac State school will open on Sunday, September 9. Dr. E. E. Church, president, said yesterday. Freshmen will report to the campus on that date and the Freshman week program will continue through September 12.

Sophomore students will register Thursday, September 13, with regular class sessions beginning September 14.

Greater interest is being expressed in college attendance this year by young men and women than in any year since 1941, Church said. This report comes from all sections of the country and the enrollment at Potomac State as well as other colleges is likely to be increased above the level of enrollments of the very lean war years. It is now expected that Davis and Reynolds halls, residence halls on the campus, will be filled to capacity.

The Congress has enacted legislation providing educational opportunities for veterans. Numbers of young men and women whose education has been interrupted or delayed by the war are entering college as soon as possible after their discharge, Church stated.

Potomac State has made preparations for the reception of veterans. He added. A counseling service has been organized, courses have been adjusted, and, in general, every effort is being made to meet the veterans' problems with intelligence and understanding.

Two courses are being offered at Potomac State for the first time this year, basic engineering and medical secretarial. Basic engineering is designed for those students who desire training in the fundamentals of engineering, but do not intend to take a full course for a degree. Medical secretarial is designed to train young women for the secretarial work required in physicians' offices and in hospitals.

Britain Looks to Attlee

STUDENT ATTLEE, from a well-to-do family, studied at Oxford. Converted to Socialism, he joined the Fabians.

FIRST HAND EXPERIENCE on the labor front was gained when he did manual labor in London Limehouse district.

NEW PRIME MINISTER was the mayor of London's East End slum area, member of parliament, and Churchill deputy.

IN WORLD WAR I, Attlee enlisted in 1914, rose to major. He led his men over the top with baton instead of gun.

NOW A MEMBER OF THE BIG THREE, and Prime Minister of Britain, Attlee has promised to carry out Churchill's policies in the war against Japan, cooperation with Russia and America, and adherence to the United Nations set-up.

Jellied Salads Fill the Bill

Excessive Pride
In "Book Larnin'"
May End RomanceBy CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

A jellied salad is easy to make and it looks so handsome that any extra effort needed to concoct it is well worth while. Make jellied salads for the family, or serve them to your guests. For a party, they are a great fuss-saver, as you can have them all done and packed into the refrigerator the day before, if you plan properly.

Almost any vegetables go well in an aspic mold. Here's a particularly pretty and tasty vegetable salad.

JELLIED VEGETABLE RING . . . Make it the day before . . .

Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Combine tomato juice, sugar, salt, pepper and dissolved gelatin. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Add lemon juice, radishes, carrots, cabbage and scallions. Pour into ring mold and chill until set. Unmold and garnish with watercress and deviled eggs. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing.

Putting sliced meat into an aspic (if you have any sliced meat handy) helps make a little go a long way, and if you touch it up like the duck one following, the aspic adds just the right flavor to the meat.

Duck In Aspic
Cold sliced . . . 1/2 cup dry red breast of duck . . . wine
1 envelope plain . . . 1/2 teaspoon dried gelatin . . . tarragon
1 cup cold water . . . 1 teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water

Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add the cup hot water and the red wine and cool. Add tarragon and salt. When cool, pour a thin layer of the liquid into a mold and chill in the refrigerator until well set. Now place the sliced duck on top of this and pour in the rest of the liquid. Chill until set. Serve on a platter, surrounded by greens and the rest of the duck, carved into serving pieces. With this serve mayonnaise, which has had just enough dry red wine beaten into it to color it pink. The flavor is superb.

Carrot Mold
1 cup raw carrots, minced
1 medium onion, minced
1/2 cup green pepper, coarsely chopped
1 envelope plain gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 1/2 cups cold water
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon salt

Soften gelatin in the half cup of cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add rest of water, vinegar and salt. Cool until the mixture begins to thicken. Stir in vegetables and pour into mold. Chill until set. Serve in a bed of crisp lettuce and escarole leaves.

A Year To Pay

him all about as they strolled around Paris where she had one of those wartime clerical jobs, she felt head-over-heels in love with the stunning young libertine.

Superiority Complex
It seems the boy from Mississippi was an out-and-out Apollo, and the clerical girl from Brooklyn wasn't the only one who thought so either. Competition weighed heavily against grammar when they were in Paris, but now that she's home his love-letters drive her nuts. He rules lines on the envelope to keep his writing straight. He uses a small i instead of a capital and his spelling is just comic supplement stuff. He writes of his unworthiness of her and in spite of his appearance she's inclined to agree.

To my way of thinking, she's suffering from a superiority complex. She's miserable in Brooklyn; he's more miserable in Paris. Now, instead of exchanging ill-spelled and well-spelled love-letters on the subject of their tragedy, why don't these young people do the sensible thing?

USAFI Is Recommended
Through USAFI, the initials of which spell United States Armed Forces Institute, the boy could take a self-teaching, correspondence course and get high school credits. All he has to do is send $2 to the United States Armed Forces Institute, Madison 3, Wis. and tell them he's interested in correspondence study.

In many ways, correspondence study is better than class-room study for one who has gaps in his education—no one to smile at his breaks. If his marks are creditable he can continue his education not only in Paris, but when he returns to this country. If he is serious and applies himself, he may be able in time to look down his nose indulgently at the culture of the young lady from Brooklyn, who told him all about the Venus de Milo.

Scenes of Central YMCA Camp at Pleasant Valley

the catch of the day, a moccasin snake is exhibited to Eugene Hopkins, associate camp director. The boys who caught the snake are (left to right): James Main, Jack Marshall, Carlisle and Alex Grubbs. Among other YMCA camp activities are chapel, swimming, fishing, trips to points of interest in the vicinity, games and campfires. Oscar I. Bergstrom, associate general secretary of the Central YMCA, is camp director.

HE DARED TO BE HIMSELF

Maybe you liked Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Maybe you didn't.

But whether you did or didn't, one phase out of his many faceted character will endure forever as a "cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night" to his fellow Americans. For here was a man who lived to the hilt that unique characteristic of the fighting Yank—HE DARED TO BE HIMSELF.

Many books have been compiled about this man, surveys of his work, analyses of his character, friendly or sour recollections of his progress. But to my mind Clark Kinnaird has surpassed them all in a frank but tender collection of stories with pictures, recently published by the Citadel Press, New York City.

Here are photos of a man from his infancy to the last chapter when he turned his war weary face away—and slept. They are intimate pictures, not retouched tributes. They show him in every phase of his life, private and political. And as you turn the pages you see him in the full flower of his youth—in the tragic chapters of his long agony and the magnificent victory which survived it. And always you see that rarest miracle of photography—the growth, the glory and the passing of a real man. There he was for all the world to love or condemn but always—himself.

For weal or woe, in pain or ecstasy, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was Franklin Delano Roosevelt. And I doubt if there can be greater eulogy than that for any human being.

F. D. R. dared to express himself as he saw himself, however mistaken he might be. He lived by his own blueprint, not borrowing, not imitating, not following anyone's pattern save his own.

Have you ever thought what it costs to do that one seemingly simple thing—to be yourself? To be yourself regardless of your station, be it famous or obscure? To stick resolutely by your own design though a thousand varying impulses strive to tear you apart?

It is not an easy thing for a man to do or to be. It is one of the rarest things that a man can achieve, whether he be the head of a great nation or the humblest hod carrier. America was founded on that ideal—that each man should be himself and present himself as a living offering to his fellow men. And when most of his acts are forgotten, we will remember that one feat President Roosevelt left as an immortal heritage and deathless challenge to the United States of America.

He was not a perfect man. He was not always a wise man. He was rash, moody, changeable, exasperating—yet with infinite charm—but always he was himself.

And because he was himself he gave other men the power to be themselves... The power to express his unique and authentic personality.

He has raised forever the plimsol mark of courage.

America will never forget. And I think will always hold in gratitude the man Clark Kinnaird has brought to us in this full sized portrait of a great soul.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO PEOPLE WITH HAY FEVER

Science appears to have found the answer to Hay Fever, which is usually accompanied by sneezing, headache, watery eyes and sleeplessness. Dr. Harry N. Holmes of Oberlin College (Ohio), noted that most Hay Fever victims had a deficiency of Vitamin "C." Consequently he gave 25 of his friends enough Vitamin "C" to counteract the condition, and he found that 22 out of the 25 found marked relief. This is an amazing percentage. Asthma, Hay Fever and Rose Fever sufferers will find amazing relief with NEW IMPROVED LEE'S FORMULA Treatment, containing Vitamin "C."

Miss Vep Is Winner But Big Sneeze and J. Hal Provide Thrill

Veteran horsemen who witnessed the seventh race on yesterday's card at Fairgo referred to the duel between Big Sneeze and J. Hal as one of the best ever staged on a half mile track.

Every time W. Kelly on J. Hal started up, Bobby Benge pushed Big Sneeze right along with him and in this order the horses ran nose and nose for one mile.

At the head of the stretch Big Sneeze cracked and J. Hal, the third horse, was passed by Miss Vep, ridden by Leon Garrett, who, by the way, had ridden a waiting race in anticipation of something very thing that happened.

That was the way the race went. Big Sneeze and J. Hal was a way, horse as Miss Vep, an outsider, came on to win.

The ding dong battle over a mile between two horses in the mile and one-eighth race, on a half mile oval proved quite a thrill to the racegoers.

Group of Celanese Four Tri-State Employees Walk Men Are Killed Off Jobs in Protest

Union Predicts Normal Operation Will Resume This Morning

Maintenance workers at the Celanese plant walked off the job at noon yesterday in protest against dismissal of an employee for smoking. Company officials reported last night, but officers of Local 1874 Textile Workers Union of America, said the stoppage was not a strike and was due to a "misunderstanding."

The union predicted that operations will be back to normal this morning.

According to the company, the walkout of approximately 300 employees left the cellulose acetate engineering department and engineering department ten took place about noon after they had worked only a few hours after reporting at 7:30 a. m.

Dismissal Sustained

A company spokesman said the employee who was discharged precipitated the walkout was caught smoking by a plant supervisor and that a conference of department heads yesterday sustained his dismissal.

He added that workers failed to carry out two steps in the grievance procedure since the matter should have been referred to the personnel department and finally to arbitration.

A meeting with the personnel department has been arranged for this morning and will be held in the plant building to work the plant official stated.

Employees who walked out are not shift workers, he explained, adding that their working day runs regularly from 7:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. They refused to go to work yesterday morning when they first reported, started to work about 9 a. m. and then quit again at noon, walking off the job and leaving the plant, he said.

Can Cause Shutdown

"We don't know what the morning will bring," he said last night, adding that if the walkout continues, the chemical department at the plant will have to be shut down. He explained that certain equipment needs maintenance every day and said that if that maintenance is not provided, it can mean a shutdown in twenty-four hours.

The union declared, "There's no strike at the plant," and said the walkout was due to a "misunderstanding." A spokesman for the union said "everything will be all right" this morning and that operations will be normal.

James A. Dundon, regional TWUA director, reported the trouble started over the discharge of several workers during the past few days, but added that the matter will be settled through regular grievance machinery.

Frog Hollow Road Dispute Is Settled By Judge Huster

A dispute between two neighbors over a right of way on the Frog Hollow road, four miles west of Oldtown, was settled yesterday by Judge William A. Huster who indicated in an opinion that the controversy could and should have been adjusted amicably if a real effort had been made.

The plaintiffs, Thomas E. McElfish and wife, alleged that they own real estate adjoining the land of the defendant, Herbert L. Crider, and that Crider erected barriers that prevented the plaintiffs access to reach the Uhl highway. Testimony also revealed that McElfish's eight-year-old daughter was bitten by a dog owned by Crider.

The court ruled that the Frog Hollow road was an established road over which the public had an easement and that the defendant had no right to place a barrier on the road. The court also stated that the plaintiffs, when using the road, would be required to close a gate through which they are required to pass.

In his opinion, Judge Huster stated "the court, in this case, is of the opinion that the controversy should and would have been amicably adjusted between the parties if a sincere effort by the parties and their attorneys had been made, and the costs would have amounted to very little; but it was not done and the case was carried through at considerable cost."

The court ordered that one-half of the court costs be assessed against the plaintiffs and one-half against the defendant. Thomas Lohr Richards was counsel for the complainants and Morris Barop represented the defendant.

Local Man Is Fined On Assault Charge

Joseph L. Long, 16 Humbird street, was fined $5 in trial magistrate court yesterday after he was found guilty of assaulting J. H. Wagner, Port Ashby, W. Va., last Friday.

Attaches reported that Long struck Wagner in the jaw after an argument over the ownership of a bicycle. The local man testified that Wagner came to his home and asserted a bicycle Long said belonged to his daughter.

Magistrate Frank A. Perdue commented that Long had "some provocation" for the attack but that did not give him the right under the law to use force.

Thomas Robinson, who gave his address as Midland, was committed to the city jail for five days after he was convicted in police court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct and panhandling.

Glenn Webb, 146 Friderick street, was fined $20 and in police court yesterday for a hearing in police court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Wright Is Named To State Health Advisory Board

Benjamin W. Wright, superintendent of Memorial hospital, this city, has been appointed by Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor to an advisory board of seven members to function under the state board of health in connection with the establishment of standards for licensing of hospitals by the state, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Baltimore last evening.

Wright, who first learned of the appointment through the Cumberland News, said he would be "delighted to accept" the post but added he "had no comment" to make until he received official notification.

Under a statute passed by the General Assembly during the 1945 session, all hospitals treating two or more patients must obtain licenses from the state department of health and conform to minimum standards.

The department is given authority under the act to make and enforce regulations classifying hospitals and prescribing standards of safety and sanitation.

Others named to the advisory board are: Dr. John H. Smith, director of the Johns Hopkins hospital; J. Douglas Colman, executive secretary, Associated Hospital Service; William L. Galvin, board of trustees, St. Joseph's hospital; Dr. Thomas B. Aycock, Baltimore; Dr. J. C. Purvis, Annapolis; and Dr. William D. Noble, Easton.

The price executive suggested that it is no longer advisable to be lenient with merchants who have shown a tendency toward habitual violations.

Recommendations Penalties

Everyone must be made to understand, Katz emphasized, that conformity with OPA regulations is absolutely necessary and that penalties will be imposed whenever deliberate violations are discovered.

The meeting, yesterday at 10:30 a. m. in the Union Street court building, was attended by members and clerks of the price panel.

Leo H. McCormick, Maryland OPA director, presented a "Mileage Rationing Citation of Merit" to the Celanese Corporation of America.

The citation was accepted by F. T. Small, plant manager, and distinguished service pins were presented to these members of the transportation committee: Edward A. Allan, superintendent of personnel; Neil Toey, Robert Thwaites, L. Helmer and William S. Somerville.

The local plant, OPA officials reported, made a splendid record in "showing the ride" following the death in December, and have paid $8,744.87 to the Liberty Trust Company, which had liens against the policies, leaving a net amount of $6,982.

It was cited that the executors had received $15,696.87 in life insurance following Waingold's death in December, and have paid $8,744.87 to the Liberty Trust Company, which had liens against the policies, leaving a net amount of $6,982.

In his opinion, Judge Huster stated "the court, in this case, is of the opinion that the controversy should and would have been amicably adjusted between the parties if a sincere effort by the parties and their attorneys had been made, and the costs would have amounted to very little; but it was not done and the case was carried through at considerable cost."

The court ordered that one-half of the court costs be assessed against the plaintiffs and one-half against the defendant. Thomas Lohr Richards was counsel for the complainants and Morris Barop represented the defendant.

Charles Waingold has filed suit against Mrs. Alice Waingold, administratrix of the estate of Samuel Waingold, to collect $12,872, alleged to be due for "services rendered."

Harold E. Naughton is counsel for the plaintiff.

A hearing was held yesterday before Chief Judge William A. Huster in a petition involving the estate of Thomas E. Boston, of Lonaconing, and decision was reserved.

Litigation has been pending in court since 1929, after Aleck Sloan and Percy Sloan were named trustees under Boston's will.

Boston, who operated a store in Lonaconing for many years, left an estate in excess of $80,000. Last August 2 the court signed an order removing Sloan and appointing the Second National Bank of Cumberland as trustee.

A hearing was held yesterday on the petition of the trustees to change a loss of $9,669.39 sustained through failure of the Lonaconing Savings Bank as credit against the body of the estate.

Charles Z. Heskett is counsel for the bank and David W. Sloan represents the Sloans. William A. Gunter appeared for a bonding company.

Two and one-half million children are transported daily by bus and from school in the United States.

"BACHELOR LIFE" WINS CONTEST—When Randolph Millholland found an old fashioned bachelor stove he conceived the idea shown above that won him first prize in the monthly black and white contest of the Cumberland Camera Club. Pictures submitted in the monthly print competition were judged by three judges selected by the club.

Inflation Danger After V-J Day Is Stressed by Katz

Pointing out that present patriotic factors will no longer be operative after the end of the war with Japan, M. Shkamen Katz, Maryland OPA district price executive, yesterday alerted personnel of the price panel of the Allegheny County War Price and Rationing Board against the dangers of inflation after V-J day.

The danger will be particularly real, he pointed out, for returning servicemen who are trying to make the adjustment to civilian life and to re-establish homes which were broken when the men entered service.

Mr. Katz's death followed by the death of the owner of the dairy, Mr. B. A. Mason, who succumbed Wednesday morning in Memorial hospital after a brief illness.

According to reports, McBees was bringing milk to the pasteurization section of the plant when he suddenly collapsed after suffering a heart attack.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Martha Lease McBees, he is survived by one son, Melvin G. McBees, Westport, a stepson, Guy E. Shuck, Rawlings, and two stepdaughters, Mrs. Mary Lee Lease, Cresaptown, and Mrs. Lucy Whitacre, Dickinson Run, Pa.

Three brothers, George McBees, Ridgeley, John McBees, Westport, and James McBees, Cresaptown, and three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth McKenzie, both of Cresaptown, and Mrs. Anna Shuck, Bloomington, also survive.

MARGARET HARRIS RITES
Funeral services for Margaret Jane Harris, 13, who died Tuesday afternoon at the home of her aunt, Mrs. G. W. Allender, 412 Central avenue, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home.

The Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of First Methodist church, officiated and interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

Palbearers were John Harris, Patrick Allender, R. C. Simmons, George W. Lucas, David Ogilvie and Sgt. Kenneth Ogilvie.

MRS. CRABTREE RITES
Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home, 43 Offutt street, for Mrs. Tracie V. Crabtree, 63, wife of John Crabtree, who died Wednesday evening at her home.

In connection with yesterday's award McCormick declared: "The mileage ration award made to the Celanese plant, to the executives and to the workers was in recognition of their outstanding contribution to our over-all war effort at home."

"What the workers and many thousands of patriotic Americans have done has helped conserve supplies for our men and women on the battlefield. They beat the Germans. Their fight now is to beat the Japs. It's an all-out fight, with no quarter given."

"We've got an all-out fight here at home. It is to beat inflation, rising prices and the black markets. The chiseling racketeer gives no quarter and we must give none in putting him out of business."

"Inflation can ruin this country of ours and every one of us is in it. We can prevent such a thing, however, and it's our job to prevent it."

"Black market activity is prevalent in almost every community. And black markets are the greatest ally of inflation. They go hand in hand."

Russell C. McBees Rites Are Planned

Funeral services for Russell Charles McBees, 56, Cresaptown, Mason's Dairy employee who dropped dead shortly after reporting for work yesterday morning, will be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Cresaptown Methodist church.

The Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor of the church, will officiate at the rites and interment will be in Mt. Zion cemetery, near Fort Ashby, W. Va.

"The body is at the home of his sister, Mrs. Melvin McKenzie, Cresaptown."

Mr. McBees' death followed by the death of the owner of the dairy, Mr. B. A. Mason, who succumbed Wednesday morning in Memorial hospital after a brief illness.

According to reports, McBees was bringing milk to the pasteurization section of the plant when he suddenly collapsed after suffering a heart attack.

B. & O. President Asks Wheeler For Investigation

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—Roy B. White, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, wrote Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) today requesting an investigation which he said would correct "the serious charges made or implied in your letter involving the management of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad."

White referred to a letter written by Wheeler to the Federal Loan Agency suggesting a "thorough investigation of loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the railroad, in which the Senator said he was 'unable to understand why the loans had not been paid.'"

White's letter, as released to newspapers, said that "since I came to the Baltimore and Ohio (in 1941) as president, it has reduced its indebtedness more than $100,000,000, thereby reducing its fixed charges more than $5,500,000 per annum."

"It is true that the value of Baltimore and Ohio securities has increased substantially. This I believe and assert is not due to any manipulation or speculation in the securities, but to the fact that the public appraisal of Baltimore and Ohio securities has been enhanced by the retirement of so much of its funded debt."

"While I am not called on to defend the action of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, I do feel that it should be borne in mind that its function is not merely lending money for the interest it collects thereon, but that it is a government agency designed in part, at least, to aid railroads in solving their financial problems."

Suspensions Unfounded
He said that "the suspicions you apparently have of some wrongdoing" because some of the officers of the B. & O. were formerly connected with the RFC were unfounded and said that he, himself, had never been connected with the agency.

Wheeler's letter, dated July 28, was addressed to John W. Snyder as Federal Loan Administrator. At that time Snyder had already taken the oath as director of War Mobilization and Reconstruction, and the letter was turned over to Charles B. Henderson, who is acting Federal Loan Administrator and chairman of the RFC board of directors.

Henderson acknowledged today that the letter has been received and said he is preparing a reply to Senator Wheeler. Henderson said the reply might be ready in "a week or ten days."

In his letter, Wheeler said he has been told that the RFC during the last twelve years has lent more than $85,000,000 to the B. & O. and "at least eighty-two million dollars of these loans are unpaid today."

Loans Remain Unpaid
Wheeler declared: "I am unable to understand why the RFC loans are permitted to remain unpaid."

Wheeler said the B. & O., unlike any other railroad in the country, has come into a bankruptcy court twice in seven years, "the second occasion being in a period of unprecedented prosperity." He said he has been advised that while the RFC has gone unpaid, "Wall Street speculators have made a huge killing in the B. & O. stocks."

Three Births Reported
Mr. and Mrs. Ira Watkins, 408 Springdale street, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital yesterday morning.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wolford, 108 Karns avenue, in Allegheny hospital yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellsworth, LaVale, announce the birth of a daughter in Allegheny hospital early yesterday afternoon.

The issuance or canning sugar, which was discontinued early this week, will be resumed tomorrow, according to War Price and Rationing Board No. 231.

Homer Jackson, Frostburg, Is Believed Drowned in Deep Creek Lake

Authorities last night had found no trace of Homer Roger Jackson, 24, Frostburg, who disappeared after reportedly drinking a bottle of beer in Point View Inn, Deep Creek Lake, at 5 p. m. Wednesday, but Cpl. Thomas Currie, of the state police, said he believed the man drowned while swimming in the lake.

The report that Jackson was seen at the inn by a waitress was the first indication that the young man had not drowned after diving into the lake from a boat about 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Cpl. Currie added, however, that he believes Jackson went swimming after drinking the beer and possibly developed cramps and drowned.

The inn is located about 100 yards from the Henry Yates cottage that Jackson and four other young men rented last Sunday, and state police and volunteers yesterday dragged the lake in that section, near McHenry, in an effort to locate his body. Dragging is under the supervision of Fred C. "Buck" Dreyer, veteran Cumberland waterman.

Police said they were informed that Jackson, popularly known as "Stoney," is an amateur prize fighter and is reputed to be a good swimmer.

According to reports officers received, Jackson and Joseph P. Smith, also of Frostburg, were on the lake Wednesday about 4:30 p. m. They were opposite the cottage owned by Jack Shober, Cumberland, when Jackson told Smith he was going to swim to shore, plunged into the water and started to swim around, police said.

Started for Shore
They added that Smith then headed the boat for shore and went to the cottage which they had rented along with Warren Plummer, Wright's Crossing, and James and Frank Morgan, Carlos. When Jackson did not appear for several hours, the campers began a search for him and then notified police at 9 p. m.

Police said that information was received, it gave credence to the belief that Jackson drowned while swimming to shore, but yesterday morning, Cpl. Currie said, he received the information that Jackson had been seen at Point View Inn, clad only in bathing trunks.

That fact that he had not returned to the cottage together with the fact that his clothing and wallet were still there added weight to the belief that he probably went swimming again after drinking the beer and drowned. Cpl. Currie pointed out that Jackson could not have gone far clothed only in swimming trunks.

Records of Local Draft Board, No. 4, Frostburg, of which Jackson was a registrant, indicated that he had been rejected for military duty at the Baltimore induction station on August 5, 1943.

Following his rejection, Jackson went to Baltimore to take employment in a steel plant but returned to Frostburg in January of this year. In April he went to work at the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory in this section several years ago.

Police Continue Search for Body Of Lake Camper

Homer Jackson, Frostburg, Is Believed Drowned in Deep Creek Lake

Authorities last night had found no trace of Homer Roger Jackson, 24, Frostburg, who disappeared after reportedly drinking a bottle of beer in Point View Inn, Deep Creek Lake, at 5 p. m. Wednesday, but Cpl. Thomas Currie, of the state police, said he believed the man drowned while swimming in the lake.

The report that Jackson was seen at the inn by a waitress was the first indication that the young man had not drowned after diving into the lake from a boat about 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Cpl. Currie added, however, that he believes Jackson went swimming after drinking the beer and possibly developed cramps and drowned.

The inn is located about 100 yards from the Henry Yates cottage that Jackson and four other young men rented last Sunday, and state police and volunteers yesterday dragged the lake in that section, near McHenry, in an effort to locate his body. Dragging is under the supervision of Fred C. "Buck" Dreyer, veteran Cumberland waterman.

Police said they were informed that Jackson, popularly known as "Stoney," is an amateur prize fighter and is reputed to be a good swimmer.

According to reports officers received, Jackson and Joseph P. Smith, also of Frostburg, were on the lake Wednesday about 4:30 p. m. They were opposite the cottage owned by Jack Shober, Cumberland, when Jackson told Smith he was going to swim to shore, plunged into the water and started to swim around, police said.

Started for Shore
They added that Smith then headed the boat for shore and went to the cottage which they had rented along with Warren Plummer, Wright's Crossing, and James and Frank Morgan, Carlos. When Jackson did not appear for several hours, the campers began a search for him and then notified police at 9 p. m.

Police said that information was received, it gave credence to the belief that Jackson drowned while swimming to shore, but yesterday morning, Cpl. Currie said, he received the information that Jackson had been seen at Point View Inn, clad only in bathing trunks.

That fact that he had not returned to the cottage together with the fact that his clothing and wallet were still there added weight to the belief that he probably went swimming again after drinking the beer and drowned. Cpl. Currie pointed out that Jackson could not have gone far clothed only in swimming trunks.

Records of Local Draft Board, No. 4, Frostburg, of which Jackson was a registrant, indicated that he had been rejected for military duty at the Baltimore induction station on August 5, 1943.

Following his rejection, Jackson went to Baltimore to take employment in a steel plant but returned to Frostburg in January of this year. In April he went to work at the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory in this section several years ago.

Fruit Growers Move To Avert Labor Shortage

Hancock Orchardists May Import 200 Bahamians and Jamaicans

Hancock area fruit orchardists, considering importing Bahamians and Jamaicans next year to avert anticipated labor shortage if war ends suddenly, German prisoners are sent home and former army men now in the armed services are slow in receiving their discharges.

The orchardists do not expect labor shortage this year. Stuart Fulton, president of the Hancock Fruitgrowers Association, said last night. Fulton explained that the German prisoners are now being used and that a bid for fifty to one hundred men in October would probably receive favorable action from the government.

"With the prospect of a slim crop, the government realizes that what apples we have must be saved," Fulton said, and added that if necessary, enough pressure can be brought to obtain labor.

Concerned Over Next Year
"The Germans will undoubtedly be available through the fall," Fulton said, "and probably won't be shipped back to Germany before this winter."

However, the orchardists have expressed concern over next year labor problem as many are doubting if servicemen will return rapidly enough to help harvest an anticipated bumper crop. It was explained that many trees are beginning a rest this year and are bearing apples and that such crops are invariably followed by bumper crops the following year.

The orchardists say they are counting on the boys coming home from the labor camp and to tide over the orchards until a stable adjustment can be made.

Must Convince Government
Commenting on the proposed plan, Fulton said the orchardists could secure the outside labor if they could convince the government of the great need for it.

It was pointed out that orchardists had found that local camps on the orchards run by the camps had worked out best in the past. There was no transportation problem to meet.

The body of Floyd N. Hebb, 58, 215 Virginia avenue, Baltimore, who died Wednesday afternoon in a Keiser W. Va., court, was shortly after identified two men as the assailants who beat and robbed him on Keyser July 30, was sent to Graceland, W. Va., yesterday afternoon. Interment will be in the National cemetery.

Vermon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney for Mineral county, said a post mortem disclosed that Hebb died of a cerebral hemorrhage. The autopsy revealed the local man suffered a fracture of the skull from the left eye to the region of the left ear.

Mr. Hebb was a veteran of World War I, a member of Keiser Lodge, the Eagles Lodge in Graceland, the American Legion Post No. 1040, the Graceland Brotherhood and Railroad Trainmen.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mamie Helen Armistead Hebb, two daughters, Marjorie, 13, and Frances, 11, at home; three sons, Mr. Richard Hebb, stationer, in Graceland; Mr. Seaman "Slim" Hebb, 17, in Graceland; and Mr. Floyd Hebb, Jr., somewhere in the Pacific; and Pfc. Louis Hebb, located in the Philippines; five brothers, Ray C. Hebb, and Emory Hebb, both in Graceland; W. Va.; Arthur Hebb, Ambridge, Pa.; Dorsey Hebb, Cumberland, and Ernest, a patient in the Veterans' hospital in Chillicothe, Ohio.

Also surviving are five sisters, Mrs. Addie Mace and Miss Virginia Hebb, both of Graceland; Mrs. Ruth Mann, Eaton, Ohio; Mrs. Jennie Nester and Mrs. Rose Davidson, both of Bethesda.

To Speak for Unity
An address in support of international unity will be heard over WTBO at 6:15 p. m. Saturday, August 11. The talk will be one of a series of "Speak Up for Democracy" programs being sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

An air route in Alaska schedules the trip from Juneau to Nome in seven hours. It formerly took 34 days by dog sled and river boat to cover this distance.
